Title: Maghreb Game Conference 2016

Date: 2016, October 15th and 16th

Place: Technopark Casablanca, Morocco

Maghreb Game Conference 2016 is the first Moroccan conference and exhibition dedicated to the video game industry taking place on October 15th to 16th at Technopark, Casablanca. The event is organized by the Moroccan Game Developers association in partnership with inwi and Technopark.

The event focuses on the video game industry's emergence in North Africa, and aims to become an annual event for regional developers and video game entrepreneurs in collaboration with Tunisian Game Developers and Algerian Game Developers communities.

For this first edition, the event has invited more than 20 experts in the video game industry from several countries all over the world, to share experiences and knowledge about video game techniques, development tools and marketing, as well as an economic overview of regional and international markets.

The MGC focuses on learning, inspiration and networking through various conferences, workshops and game exhibitions and any other video game related product. This event therefore targets primarily any development or distribution studio, whether from Morocco or any other country. It is also a platform where designers, developers and entrepreneurs can share, create and collaborate.

About Moroccan Game Developers
